CT-Training for the Chancellery of the Prime Minister

On May 26, 2021, Internal Security Agency experts conducted CT-training for employees of the Chancellery of the Prime Minister.

The event provided insights into the current level of exposure of Poland and its citizens to radical ideologies and possible acts of violence involving international extremist and terrorist organizations. During the meeting focus was placed on the best practices related to the recommended behavior in case of a terrorist threat: a bomb attack, delivery of a dangerous package or CBRN-E contamination.

At the end of the training, experts discussed and demonstrated the principles of providing first medical aid in crisis situations caused by extremist acts of violence.

The training was conducted by the ABW Terrorist Prevention Center of Excellence in cooperation with experts from other organizational units of the Agency: the Forensic Research Bureau, the Healthcare Team and the Department of Internal Security and Audit.
