Training for PPL employees

On 19 July, experts from the Terrorist Prevention Centre of the Internal Security Agency trained another group of employees of the State Enterprise "Airports" responsible for, among other things, receiving reports of incidents in the airport area.

The Centre's officers focused on methods of interviewing potentially radicalised persons and persons informing on the threat. The training discussed selected active listening techniques and the basic tenets of the language meta model. In addition, the training addressed issues related to countering radicalisation that can lead to violent extremism and terrorism and provided knowledge on recommended procedures for dealing with the reception of potentially dangerous packages.
